Playground Bonds To Be Offered For Sale

Revised Milk Ordinance Passes First Reading

In the regular monthly meeting held last Monday night, Council authorized the issuing and advertising for sale of the Playground bonds. This, after a multitude of delays is another step forward in the matter of getting the plot of ground in shape for use. It will be necessary for the bonds to be advertised for several weeks, after which time the sale will be executed, and the land purchased from the Pennsylvania Railroad, the present owners.

Council took final action after a letter was received from Mr. Robert J. Nash, representing the Playground Association, that the group of citizens he represented would guarantee their future moral and financial support of the project.

The revised milk ordinance was introduced and passed first reading at this meeting. This ordinance is in effect identical with that now in force in the townships of Lower Merion and Haverford. Certain changes were made, however, which will make the regulations more closely applicable to the Borough of Narberth. The ordinance is of considerable length, and covers the whole question of milk inspection and sanitation in a very thorough manner. It is expected that this ordinance, as revised, will pass its second and final readings at the regular meeting of September 11th.

A report was received from the Committee on Highways and Sewers, of which Mr. Wentz is chairman, dealing with the paving of Conway, Price and Stewart Avenues. The report recommended that the Borough Engineers, Messrs. Albright and Melus, be instructed to prepare plans and specification, which work, we understand, is already under way.

WHITE WINGS, JR.

From all indications Wayne Avenue is to be the spotless Street of the Borough. For some unknown cause this street last week was so littered up with papers, sticks, and "off fall" from the hucksters' wagons that its condition was noticeable even to the children. When they heard their parents referring to it they set about to organize a junior borough force to assist Street Commissioner Suplee in keeping this street clean.

One of the boys, Richard Wentz, whose father is Chairman of the Highway Committee, took it upon himself to supervise the clean-up. He enlisted the services of not only the boys living on the street, but also their roller coaster wagons, and with an old broom and a shovel last Monday morning they started out bright and early to clean off all the rubbish for the entire stretch of the street.

Acting as Street Commissioner, Richard Wentz assigned Dickie and Wallis Boileau to be the Borough horses. Bob Zimmer, Malcolm Forsythe, John MacIntyre, James MacIntyre and Llewellyn Brooks constituted the Highway Department working force.

When Street Commissioner Suplee was informed of this act on the part of the boys, he immediately made an inspection of their work and complimented them on the efficient manner in which it had been done. In fact, he said that his "junior force," on this particular occasion, did as good a job as could have been done by his regular men. The boys are being encouraged in this new adventure by their parents.

Congratulations, boys, for the fine spirit! Here is hoping similar organizations will be perfected on some of the other streets of the Borough!

Commuters To Star In Film

Narberth Business Men to be Pictured Wednesday

About 3,704 of Narberth's commuters, wives, sweethearts, parents and friends will flock to the theatres in the Stanley circuit shortly to see, on the silver sheet, a large number of our worthy citizens.

True, the film in which they are to appear will not be a thrilling tale of love and romance, or a Harold Lloyd comedy, but the cast will be, nevertheless, an all-star one, composed of the cream of Narberth's Paoli Local patronizers. "What's it all about," asks little Willie, in the rear of the room. Well, listen to this.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, through the Stanley Company, is making a film depicting scenes in the daily life of a big railroad. There will be pictures of the business departments, of locomotive repairs, of dining car service, and many other features of the railroad system.

In addition, scenes will be taken showing Commuter life, or, to be more exact, Main Line commuter life. One picture will depict the President of the road, Samuel Ren, himself a lowly commuter, entering a train at Ardmore.

But to show the representative, the ideal, the ultimate group of blue-stockinged commuters, the railroad has selected Narberth. Next Wednesday morning, August 23rd, is the date chosen for our worthy citizens to sit—or rather stand, for their portraits.

A motion picture will be taken of the crowd waiting for the 8:20—Daylight Saving Time—train. The camera man will be stationed on the North Side Platform, and will "shoot" the waiting multitude and just as the speeding electric chariot draws into the station. A panorama will be taken, beginning at the front end, and sweeping back until the picture meets the advancing train.

For this reason it has been estimated that some 70 of our commuters will leave their pipes at home that day, and will stand up front with the non-fumigating element. It has also been prophesied that 113 will miss the 8 o'clock, and that 37 will come early for the 8:20, so as to be included in the film.

In any event, do not fail to wear a stiff collar on Wednesday, and to get to the station in plenty of time.

BASEBALL

Narberth's long string of twilight victories was broken Thursday night, when St. Callistas walked off with a six-inning game with a score of 10-5. In the fifth inning, Narberth ran up all the five runs she secured, but darkness prevented any further attempts at a streak.

This afternoon—Saturday—Narberth plays at Bryn Mawr. Last Saturday's game, scheduled at Wayne, was called off with the other League games on account of rain. Next Saturday Narberth plays Ardmore at home. This promises to be a real game, for Narberth is out for the pennant, and Ardmore to date feels that she has a mortgage on it.

Narberth is now tied with Berwyn, Wayne, and Bryn Mawr for second honors. Berwyn plays Ardmore today so almost anything may happen to the standings.

NEW SERIES

Building and Loan Stock

It is again time to call to the attention of the readers of "Our Town" that the Narberth Building and Loan Association will open its new Thirty fourth Series at Elm Hall on Thursday evening, September 7th, from 7:30 until 9:00, when new shares can be taken out in either the long or short term series.

The Association is now over fifteen years old and has assets of over $500,000, consisting principally of mortgages on Narberth properties and as the value of these properties has greatly increased in the majority of cases, and as the borrowers have paid off a large part of their loans, the security to the association is greatly increased and do not know of any Building and Loan Association whose loans are nearer "Gilt Edge" than those of the Narberth Building and Loan Association.

To make a successful Building and Loan Association it is necessary to have money to loan and borrowers to loan this money to, and the Narberth Building and Loan Association has been able to place all its money in these fine mortgages where the security is of the best, mostly in the Borough where the properties are well known and are kept up to the highest standard.

The Association hopes to increase its number of stockholders greatly at the September meeting, and offers to the readers of "Our Town" a chance to save money, investing it in the finest Building and Loan Association on the Main Line, which pays 8 3/4% and has back of it the best security that we know of, namely the residences of our own people right here in the Borough.

A Building and Loan Association to be successful should be well managed, and we feel that our Association has as its officers and directors people of high standing in the community who gladly give of their time to the affairs of the Association and carefully consider the expenditure of every dollar.

Any of the Directors will be glad to explain the idea of Building and Loan and to handle the application for stock in the new Thirty fourth Series.

If any one will be unable to attend the meeting of the Narberth Building and Loan Association to be held on Thursday evening, September 7th, at Elm Hall, from 7:30 to 9:00 P. M., the following will be glad to handle the matter of new shares: Mr. Leitch at the Merion Title and Trust Company, Mr. W. S. Howard, of Howard's Drug Store; Mr. W. D. Smedley at the "Log Cabin," or Mr. Howard C. Fritsch in the Wall Building.

NORTH WINS

Due to gilt edge twirling by "Pete" Yocum, and the timely hitting of Sig-gins, on Wednesday evening, August 9, the North Side Professionals defeated Thompson's South Side Superbas, 5 to 3, on their field at Wynnewood Road and Merion Ave. A return match played the succeeding Friday evening, resulted in a hurling duel, with Killian doing the honors for the South Side and the North Side's "Ace," Yocum, again in the box, resulting in a tie at 5 all when the mantle of night descended.

Monday evening last, the Narberth All Stars played fast ball, defeated the North Side Pros, 5 to 3, with Ensinger and Zimmer as the opposing occupants of the hill. Both men hurled a good game, but misplays behind Zimmer enabled the Stars to twinkle more brightly and take home the bacon.

Future games have been arranged by the N. S. P. with the above teams. Would also like to hear from the Narberth Independents. Phone Narberth 308 W.

A "Vandyke" does not always signify a doctor, nor a "full dress" a waiter, but a "brown derby" is positive evidence of an actor.

Writer Disagrees With Article About Unpaved Streets

"Taxpayer" Believes All Citizens Should Pay.

The following communication, presenting a different view of the highway situation than that expressed by Our Town last week, was submitted with the request that it be given equal prominence.

As the subject is of growing interest to our readers, we take pleasure in complying with this request.

To the Editor of "Our Town":

Last week's issue of Our Town presented with specious fallacy but appalling sophistry the proposition that property owners whose holdings about unpaved and undedicated streets at once proceed to the work of having same paved in accordance with the Borough's plans and specifications, but at the owners' individual and personal expense.

The presentation was submitted with such probity and assurance as if that had been the "rule and reign" from the advent of Narberth's street building program to this very day. Such, however, has not been its practice and policy.

Narberth has some nineteen miles of open streets within its limits, twelve miles or about two thirds of which are already paved and practically all of this was paid for out of the Borough's treasury, or more specifically, out of the pockets of all of the taxpayers.

Some four years ago a resolution was enacted by the Borough Council to the effect that in the future the Borough would accept no streets unless the same shall first be paved as council shall direct and at the owners' personal expense.

To the disinterested and unaffected citizen such an innovation, even at this late date, might not seem of much consequence nor an unreasonable requirement, but to those who would have to "pay the fare," it comes as a monstrous and presumptuous imposition.

The holders of the properties bordering these seven miles of unpaved streets have helped pay for the paving of the twelve miles of street already in existence,—(save, possibly, some short stretches taken care of by building operators and thereby made their properties more salable) as all original paving up to the time of the aforesaid regulation, was paid for by the Borough. Can there, accordingly, be any logic or justice in now requiring that the property holders shall pay for the paving of the few remaining streets to be used and enjoyed by the public generally?

We are sure that the high sense of honor and fair play of Narberth's citizenship will not permit that such an unequitable regulation shall be foisted upon a few or its number.

We are advised that the object of that resolution was primarily intended to check or hamper the building operations of one reckless, imposing usurper whose operations were deemed a menace to the fair name of Narberth, and if it had accomplished that there would have been some condoning compensation to the credit of the Borough. But it failed in this and now has, as a deterring and embarrassing action, put burdens upon such reputable builders as Smedley, Shand and others of their class whose operations have added dignity and beauty to the community besides providing large tax-paying properties to our Borough.

Having thoroughly in mind, and with due regard for the Borough's financial status, we would ask councils that it at once rescind the regulation in question and thereby provide that all of its citizens shall continue to be on the same basis of equality in the matter of "taxation" and that Narberth appropriate this universally, socially accepted and nationally adopted slogan, "One For All And All For One."

An Old Taxpayer.

PROTECTION

To the Editor of "Our Town":

If I remember correctly, I believe that there was considerable opposition, on account of the added expense to the Borough, when the extension was proposed of the Lower Merion police force to include Narberth. I had a good illustration, however, early Monday morning of the advantage of this improved police supervision.

About 3 o'clock Monday morning, my wife and I were both awakened by noises which gave every indication of someone attempting to break into our house. After making sure that the sounds were not imaginary, I got up, switched on the lights for the lower floor from the second floor and went downstairs to investigate. I found nothing wrong at the back part of the house, but just as I turned the light on the front piazza, I heard steps coming up the walk and before I saw anyone in the darkness, a voice asked me if anything was wrong. It turned out to be a police officer.

He came into the house, looked all around, even going into the cellar and finally went around outside of the house to make sure that everything was all right. We could not discover what had caused the noises.

After daylight, I again investigated every window very carefully without finding any evidence of an effort to get in and I was therefore forced to believe that the sounds had come from some other house, probably not at all caused by anyone trying to break in as we have heard of nothing of that sort occurring.

However, I want to publicly praise the alertness of the police officer and to express my opinion that the Borough is a very much safer place to live in on account of this extra police protection. It was a matter of great deal of comfort to learn that the officer was on the job to notice when anything appeared to be unusual.

THE TOWER OF BABBLE

By Colum Righter

SOVEREIGN REMEDY

A large is the cure all for numerous ills. It is better than Capsicum, Quinine or Sassafras. It will blow all the cobwebs quite out of your brain. And freshen you up to start over again. It will cure indigestion and scatter ennui. And drive all the Blues into Ebbtide deuce. So join with us now. Let each Benn and Rafter. Refresh with the help of glad hearted laughter.

Every all accounts, the above Prescription is one hundred per cent. correct. But in view of the fact that it speaks in a derogatory way, and it does about certain legitimate stock articles mentioned in the Pharmacopoeia, we Super-Intend, Dear Bright Spot Howard, and his name to the kindly feeling list of Narberth who kindly accept our soap at the door of our Editor.

A valuable! Our days appear to be numbered. We positively know the hours of our hour are, anyway. Last Wednesday there were just seventy-eight in the year. By actual count.

This week finds us in a peculiar state of mental transition, due to the fact that our Genial South S. S. Circle is about to commit automobile. We can ascertain history will not repeat itself. No doubt there are some sensible Narberth among us who will what happened at Sedan.

Although our customary ingenuity is about three eighths shy of normalcy, we yet can negotiate the side stepping of monstrous touring cars when occasion requires it. But are we able to Dodge Sedan? That is the mooted question that stands our sleep just now.

We predict that Hon. George Jones, Smooth Running Red Estate, will reap a harvest of lure if he immediately secures the listing of every tree, bush, post, pole and pillar along the Borough Highways, to be leased to life-loving citizens at a nominal sum as Traffic Islands, so to speak, for use whenever our Genial S. S. Circle looms upon the horizon hitting on all four. And as a further safe guard, those desiring the guarantee of additional immunity will do well to commit to memory the third verse of the first Chapter of the Epistle to Colossians for recitation at such times.

'Tis an ill blow that wind nobody good. In view of these attendant circumstances we humbly suggest that the benevolent Finance Committee of Rt. Hon. B. Council delegate Citizens Cole, Walz and Newborg to paint and display at each and every entrance to this our superb Community, prodigious signs bearing in letters of flame the trite legend, "SAFETY FIRST—DODGE BROTHERS—DUCK SISTERS."

The Column acknowledges a signal honor bestowed upon it and takes great pleasure in announcing to our Citizens at large, the institution of another Mercantile Industry in our home-adoring Borough. It is, to all intents and purposes, nothing less than a Commercial Laundry. Located on the South Side. The intention of the management is evidently to specialize in Railroad and Hotel work. One comprehensive glance thrown among the lines of that "ering things on a recent Monday caught towels by the score bearing the patrician word, "Pelham." While another eye shot noted similar linen pieces embroidered with the names of many prominent and not so prominent Hotels throughout the country. We imagine there is also included with the Goodwill and Fixtures, quite a display cabinet full of ash receivers, note paper, envelopes, card matches, shoe polishing cloths and soap cakes, guest size. Being the self appointed Committee of One, we extend with much gusto the right hand of Welcome to this new enterprise with all its representative towels. Long may they wave!

It is rare indeed for us to delve into ancient History. Here is an instance that requires it, however, so we wield the spade joyfully. The picture of fair Miss Witherow was most dear, but one more thing was sorely needed to complete the last page of the admirable "Evening Ledger," date August third.

And that one thing, a likeness of our vicarious Chattanooga accompanying Miss E. Sibley. There is nothing that can escape a stranger's black silk cape except what is inside it, perhaps.

At two forty seven one afternoon last week Hon. Editor appeared at the entrance of our cave and treated us to verbal castigation. "You'll have to do better," quoth he. "How come?" countered we as we looked up at him from the depths of a pair of duck pants. "Yes, you'll have to do better," he repeated. A prominent Editorial Narberth has it that Jay E. House is doing this Column."

Oblivion. Doctors Town, Hoffman, Snyder and Stedler revived us at six thirteen.

We bow to that Editorial Narberth, whatever his identity. We acknowledge with all proper solemnity the sterling quality of his comment. To say that Second Thought Jay is responsible for "The Tower" is a compliment of the first magnitude to friend Jay, however to friend Jay. Yes, Second Thought Jay is a friend of ours. In fact the best thing we do is to mangle with the Great.

Which is by no means to be held the same as mangle with the Grate. No indeed. We so that latter also. But only at times, only at times. Last we did it was in September, '21. Then in a foolish frenzy of gastronomic greed we went against the calm judgment of the dear friend wife and tucked one dozen succulent ears of green corn among the glowing embers banked high in our fire place. Spirited on by the gnome of investigation we eventually decided to test the doneness of the viands and squatted accordingly upon our hunkers before the Grate. At this juncture the D. E. W. flitted behind us fairylake and touched us lightly with her diminutive 30 left pedal extremity. Lacking gyroscopic stabilizers, we teetered hands first among the corn. The common parlance of expression was totally inadequate at that time. At least we found it so then, if never before or since. Which is saying something.

CHILDREN AT MOVIES

Thirty-two children from the Holiday House, Narberth, attended the matinee performance at the New Art movie Theatre last Tuesday, as guests of the management.

The trip was arranged through the efforts of Mr. Fred Walzer. Messrs. Ray Weiss, Earl Meike, J. A. Caldwell and R. J. Nash gave the use of their autos to transport the children to Ardmore. The show, a Harold Lloyd comedy, was duly enjoyed.

Narberth's growth has been consistent. This may be why our folks do not realize there is little available land in Narberth for home building.

Or, for investment, the purchase of land with constantly improving property values will yield good returns.

Do you know that the country's choicest milk is served in YOUR own town?

If a big city could be served with milk from Percival Roberts' herd of blue-ribbon, pedigreed cows, every newspaper in the country would print the news and kindly bovine heads would grace the pages of our leading journals. It would be an accomplishment of which any city could well be proud. But such a likelihood is, of course, a physical impossibility! The choicest milk in the country is

Penshurst Farms Ayrshire Raw Milk

They bear the proud distinction of having the first fully accredited "Tuberculosis" free herd in the State of Pennsylvania, under the supervision of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Bureau of Animal Industry.

We are exclusive distributors of this superior grade milk. It is rich, creamy raw milk, tested, bottled and sealed right on the Penshurst Farms under our own supervision; then delivered direct to your home.

If you want the highest grade milk that cows can yield—and if you live in any of the communities listed below—you should order this famous milk today.

LIBRARY NOTES

Miss Anna MacKeay is substituting at the receiving desk in the afternoon for Mrs. Muschamp who is vacationing in Vermont, and at the delivery desk in the evening for Mrs. Ross who is in Maine.

We found ourselves in a position this week to loan to a man who has given to the library a large number of its detective stories one very recent book which he had never read. "The Red House Mystery," by A. A. Milne, a book which the publishers advertise as a "charming murder story." Our surprise at our good fortune was as great as his, and we are anxious to know what he thought of it.

You may have noticed the beautifully printed lists and signs that appear on the bulletin board in the library and about the room. There will be a large outdoor one soon which will arouse the envy of many a professional. Mrs. Bateheler is the artist.

We had intended in our notes last week to recommend to Collum Righter that he read the article on Mr. Creevy in Strachey's "Books and Characters." We think that he would enjoy it, and just to show him that we, too, are bilingual, we reply "Eh beint'."

"THE BIGAMIST"

Famous Bigamists Had One Wild Time

Who were the famous bigamists of history? You may not have heard of many of them, but they all had their day and left a trail of broken hearts in their wake. The pages of history bristle with the stories of their escapades. Many of them became famous. Others were even beloved by their followers.

There was old King Solomon in the long gone ages. He had wives by the score. He simply adored all the women. He made a howling success of plural wives. It wasn't such a dangerous game in those days, however.

Recent newspaper reports of the activities of Landru, the arch Bluebeard of Cambrai, afforded exciting reading for millions of Americans during the months following the discovery of his many crimes, and his recent execution when the glistening blade of the guillotine fell across his neck on the block at Versailles.

Landru, however, went into the game for the fun it gave him in killing off his wives. He was a downright killer. There wasn't much love in his system. He apparently thirsted for blood and quickly put his various wives to death by such blithesome means as stabbing, shooting, burning, or any other method that happened to occur to him.

Landru was an honest-to-goodness Bluebeard. There wasn't much to recommend him at all.

Other carefree bigamists were Henry VII, who played the game of bigamy with high skill. Others were the famous Mrs. Yelderton, the Duchess of Kingston, Robert Fielding, and Brigham Young.

The rules of bigamy are not restricted to any set formula. All those who play it have ideas of their own. With the passing of time, the bigamist adopt new ideas to conform with the trend of customs and habits of their illicit mates.

In the smashing drama "The Bigamist," now at the Ardmore Theatre, Wednesday, August 23rd, the game of bigamy is exposed for what it is worth. Based on the famous novel, "The Bigamist," by F. E. Mills Young, the production unfolds a most engrossing story about a young and beautiful wife with two fine children, who receives a letter exposing her husband as a bigamist. The manner in which she solves her terrible problem furnishes a thrill and a delight.

Ivy Duke, most beautiful of all cinema stars, has the leading role and is endearing herself to millions of film devotees throughout the country.
